Beauty experts in the 1970s declared the shag the “most universally flattering haircut.”

I think this picture proves them right.

Photoshopped Picture:

Nose thinned. Glasses made less awesome.
Grimace inverted. Digital wig swap. Teeth added.
Neckline artificially lowered, no cleavage found.
Lawn chair removed and sold at yard sale.

Gerhardt Hapsburg was played by Paul Reubens.

In case you were wondering if 30 Rock would ever be a commercial hit ....

Senator McCain and I
posed together for this “get out the vote”
cover of Life magazine.

For reference, this is the
swarthy little baby
Mamaw Pearline
was talking about.
